Notes:

A handmade holiday calendar came home this week. It is a gift from your child to you. I know that many kids have multiple households which can be complicated when there is only one gift. But these calendar pages can be switched out each year so that it can last forever, making it easy to share it among all family members.

If your kiddo has an MSES library book at home, please send it back to school as soon as possible.
